The screenshot shows a patient portal dashboard for myCatamaranRX. The header includes a search bar, help icon, and user profile icon. The main content is divided into several sections:

- Alerts: Three alerts regarding medication prescriptions and refills for Synthroid.
- Stay Healthy: Three articles about diabetes management, including steps to manage sugar levels, reasons for low blood glucose, and common questions about blood sugar.
- Support: A section for patient support with sub-sections for Friends, Groups (Asthma), and Diabetes (Diet & Nutrition, Medformin Side effects). It also features a 'Depression' section with a '1 New' badge.
- Care Team: A list of healthcare providers, including Dr. Smith, Jason (Primary Care Physician), Dr. Seyfert, Karl (Cardiologist), and Dr. Dunmore, Andy (OBGYN). A 'Looking for a Doctor' banner is also present.
- Current Medications: A detailed view for GLYBURIDE TAB 5MG, showing it was prescribed by Dr. Jason Smith on Jan 12, 2013. It highlights a total savings of $18.36 to date and identifies Walgreens as the best value pharmacy. The medication details section notes it is a sulfonylurea antidiabetic medicine.

Navigation Use Case: HERE Routing (AFTER)

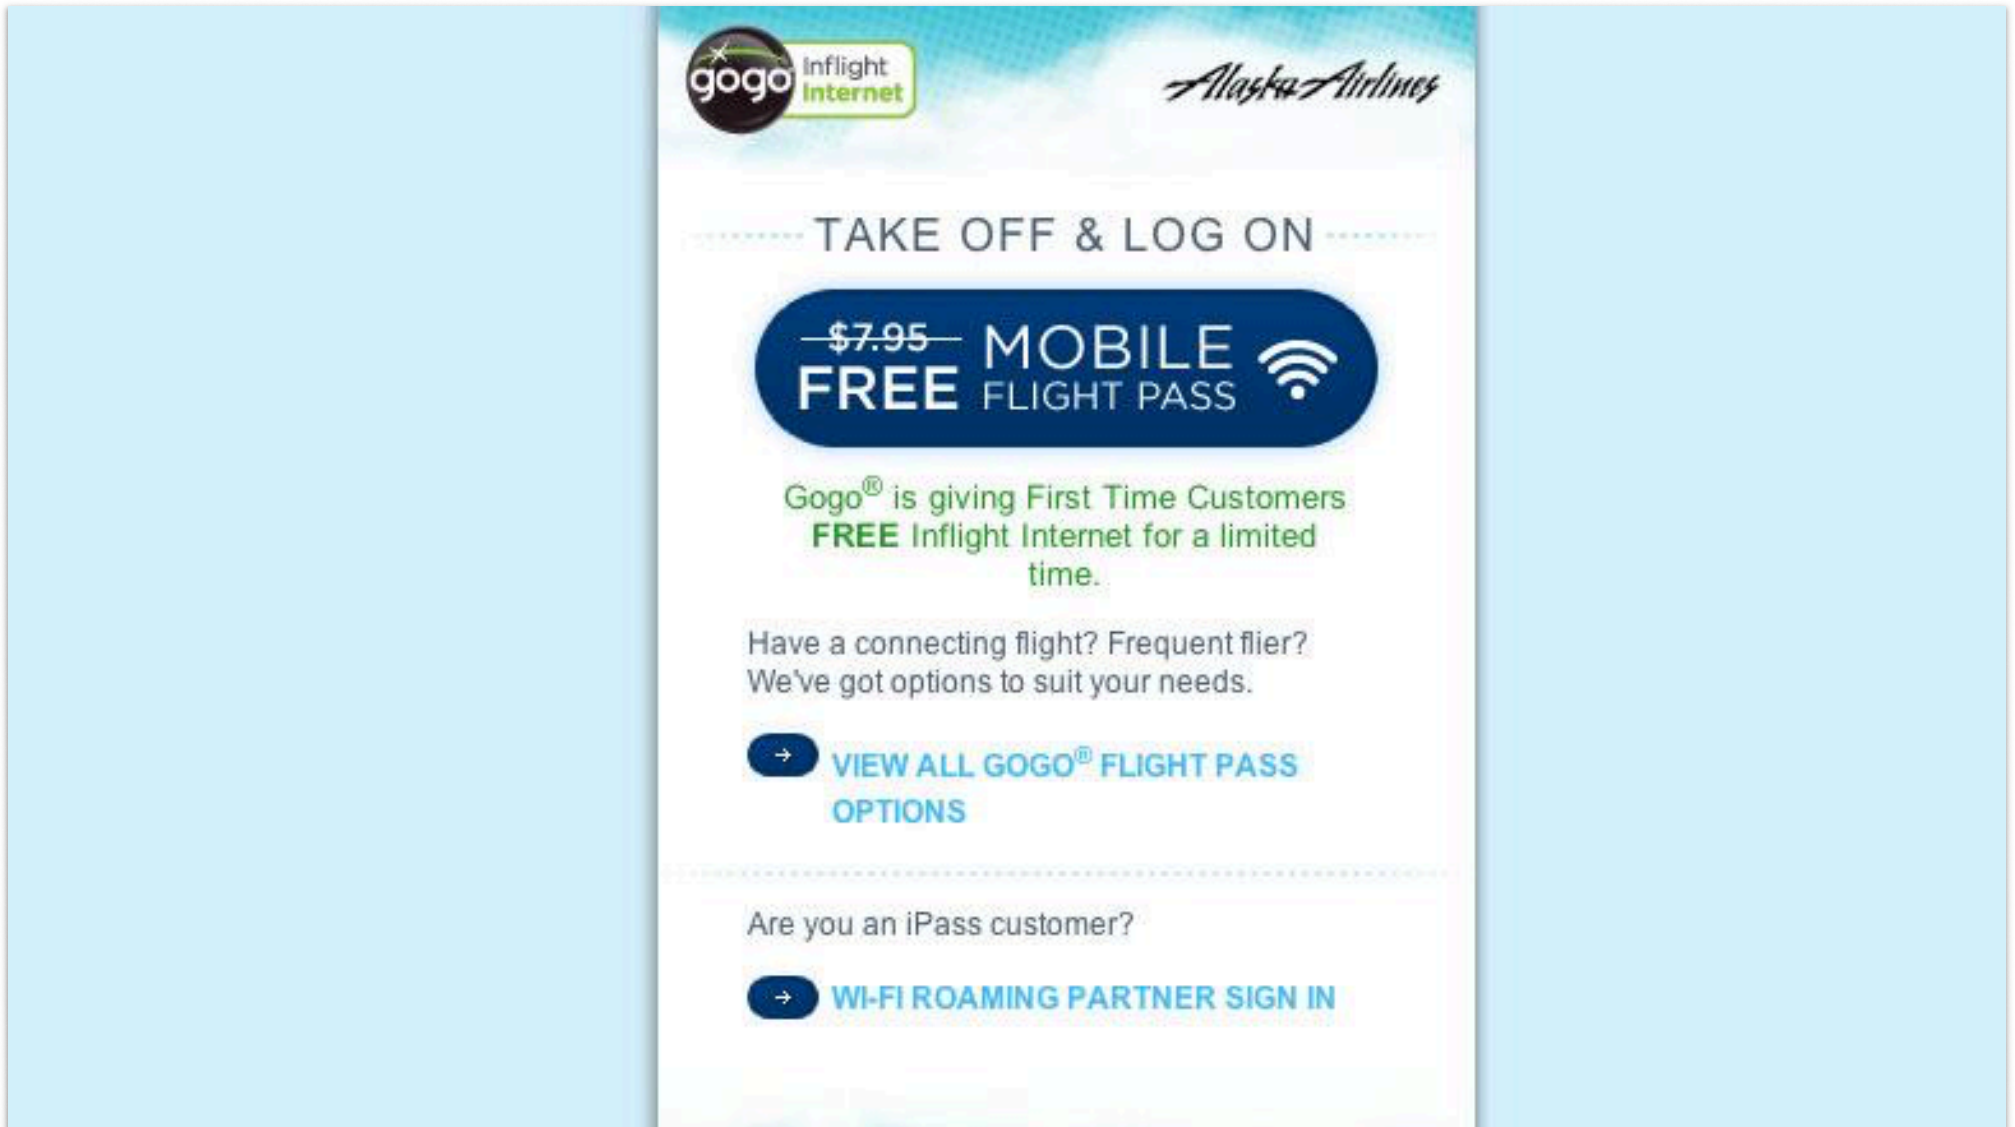

The screenshot displays the Gogo Inflight website interface. At the top left is the Gogo Inflight Internet logo. A navigation bar contains links for CONNECT, COVERAGE, ABOUT GOGO, SIGN IN, CREATE ACCOUNT, and LIVE HELP. The main banner features the headline "GET ONLINE ON MORE FLIGHTS" with the subtext "AVAILABLE ON SELECT FLIGHTS". Below this, logos for AIR CANADA, AirTran, Alaska Airlines, American Airlines, DELTA, FRONTIER (COMING SOON), UNITED, U-S AIRWAYS, and Virgin America are arranged in a grid. A "VIEW COVERAGE" button is positioned below the logos. On the right side, a "BUY BEFORE YOU FLY" section lists three products: GOGO UNLIMITED for $34.95 per month, GOGO 24 HOUR PASS for $11.00, and GOGO 6 PACK for $49.95. Each product includes a brief description, a "More info" link, and a "BUY" button. At the bottom of this section is a "VIEW ALL PRODUCTS" button. The bottom left of the page features a map of the continental United States with the text "AVAILABLE IN THE CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES" and a "VIEW AIRLINES" link. The bottom right features a Twitter quote under the heading "WHAT OUR FRIENDS SAY" with a "SEE MORE" link.

The screenshot shows the Gogo Inflight Internet website. At the top left is the Gogo Inflight Internet logo. A navigation bar contains links for CONNECT, COVERAGE, ABOUT GOGO, SIGN IN, CREATE ACCOUNT, and LIVE HELP. The main content is divided into two sections. The left section, titled 'Participating Airlines', lists logos for AIR CANADA, AirTran, Alaska Airlines, American Airlines, DELTA (highlighted with a white arrow), FRONTIER, UNITED, and U.S. AIRWAYS. The right section is titled 'Delta' and features the slogan 'The sky is no longer the limit.' It states that Gogo InFlight Internet access is available on more than 2000 flights a day on Delta's domestic fleet and on more than 500 aircraft, with a link to delta.com/wifi. Below this is the 'Gogo Equipped Aircraft' section, which includes a 'Wi-Fi ONBOARD' icon and a list of aircraft models: A319, A320, B737-700, B737-800, B757-200, B757-300, B767-300, DC9-50, MD-88, MD-90, and CRJ700.

The image is a promotional banner for Gogo Inflight Internet on Alaska Airlines. It features the Gogo Inflight Internet logo and the Alaska Airlines logo at the top. The main headline is "TAKE OFF & LOG ON" followed by a dark blue pill-shaped button containing the text "~~$7.95~~ FREE MOBILE FLIGHT PASS" with a Wi-Fi symbol. Below this, a green text block states: "Gogo® is giving First Time Customers FREE Inflight Internet for a limited time." There are two call-to-action buttons: "VIEW ALL GOGO® FLIGHT PASS OPTIONS" and "WI-FI ROAMING PARTNER SIGN IN".

The header features the American Society of Transplantation (AST) logo on the left, the title 'Healthy Transplant' in large blue font, and the subtitle 'A Guide to Your Good Health' below it. A search bar with a 'GO!' button is on the right. A vertical navigation menu on the left contains buttons for 'HOME', 'TRANSPLANT BASICS', 'HEALTH MAINTENANCE', 'INFECTION AND MALIGNANCY', 'ADHERENCE', 'QUALITY OF LIFE', and 'COMMUNICATION'. The main content area has two paragraphs of text. The first paragraph welcomes visitors and explains the site's purpose. The second paragraph discusses the 'Timeline of Health' and provides a link to a list of health tips. On the right side, there are links for 'CHANGE TEXT SIZE', 'BIGGER', and 'SMALLER'. At the bottom right, there is a photograph of a young boy in a striped shirt with his arms raised in a gesture of joy or excitement.

SNOWBOARD

Ride. Inspire. Lead.

Snowboarding has been the cornerstone of Chill's positive youth development programs since inception in 1995. There's nothing quite like the feeling of sliding on a board in the snow, sharing stories and excitement with friends on the lift, and succeeding at your first turns. Even more importantly, there's nothing quite like the moment when you realize you're capable of a lot more than you imagined, and that's why snowboarding is so perfectly aligned to aid in self-empowerment and growth.

The screenshot shows the Cognistar website homepage. At the top is a dark blue navigation bar with links for 'NEW USER', 'LOGIN', 'My Account', 'Catalog', 'Company', and 'Solutions'. The Cognistar logo is on the left, and 'SEARCH' and 'HELP' are on the right. Below the navigation bar is a promotional banner for an 'Individual One-Year Subscription' for '$695' with 'Unlimited access to ALL Cognistar courses for one year'. To the right of this banner is a login form with fields for 'Email address' and 'Password', and buttons for 'LOGIN', 'NEW USERS HERE', and 'NEW USER'. Below the login form is a 'Forgot password?' link. The main content area is divided into three columns. The left column features the slogan 'Anytime. Anywhere. Online.' and a 'FREE PREVIEW' button. The middle column is titled 'About Our Catalog' and describes the range of legal education programs offered. The right column is titled 'Accredited in Many Jurisdictions' and lists various states and regions where the courses are accredited.

The screenshot shows a web browser displaying the Cognistar online course interface. The course title is "Antitrust 2007: The Agencies & the Courts". The interface is divided into several panels:

- Top Right: Navigation links for "Notepad", "Options", "Help", and "EXIT COURSE".
- Left Panel: Includes a video player with a "Welcome" message and a speaker's video. Below the video are controls for "Outline", "Exhibit List", and "Search". A tree view shows the course structure, including sections like "Introduction", "Enforcement: Cartels", "Enforcement: Mergers", and "Marketing and Distribution".
- Center Panel: Contains the "Transcript" for the "Welcome" segment. The text explains how to use the video player, the importance of segments, and how to navigate the course. It mentions that the course is divided into short pieces of two to five minutes each and that users can click the "Next Segment" arrow or a segment title in the outline to advance.
- Right Panel: Titled "Exhibits", it features a section "The Exhibits" with text explaining that some exhibits will display in the Exhibits pane, while others (like PDFs and web sites) will open in new windows. Below this is a "Patent Legislation Timeline: 1836" with a vertical timeline showing years from 1790 to 1942. A blue arrow points to the year 1836. Text next to the timeline states: "After 1800, the loophole was closed but the harsh treble damage provision remained on the books." and "In 1836, Congress gave courts the discretion to award some or all of the treble damages under the 1800 statute." An illustration of the U.S. Capitol building is at the bottom right of the timeline.

Our courseware is based on 4 interactive frames

The screenshot displays the Cognistar courseware interface with four main interactive frames:

- Watch: A video player showing a man in a suit talking on a phone. Controls for play, stop, and volume are visible.
- Transcript: A text area containing the following text:

Before we get into term sheets and the nitty gritty of the details of term sheets, I thought I would start by setting the context. Any time you enter into a negotiation for a term sheet or any other legal document for that matter, it's important to take a step back and determine where you are. What's going on in the world around you? What's the greater context of the transaction that you have at hand?

So the first question out of the gate is, "Who are you representing?" In a venture capital financing term sheet, there are really four groups of entities that you may be
- Exhibits: A diagram titled "Who Are You Representing?" featuring a central question mark icon and a person silhouette. Four arrows point to different entity types:
 - Issuer (represented by a building icon)
 - Investor (represented by a dollar sign icon)
 - Founder/Entrepreneurs (represented by a lightbulb icon)
 - Prior investors (represented by a line graph icon)
- Outline: A navigation pane showing a hierarchical list of course content. The current section is "A. Break the Client", which is highlighted with a dashed box. Other sections include "Negotiating Term Sheets", "Situation", and "Assignments".

At the bottom left, there is a "viewed" progress indicator. At the bottom right, the copyright notice reads: "Copyright 1999 - 2003 Cognistar Corporation."

Using the Media Panel

With one mouse click, learners can opt to watch the video, listen to audio only, or simply read the text.

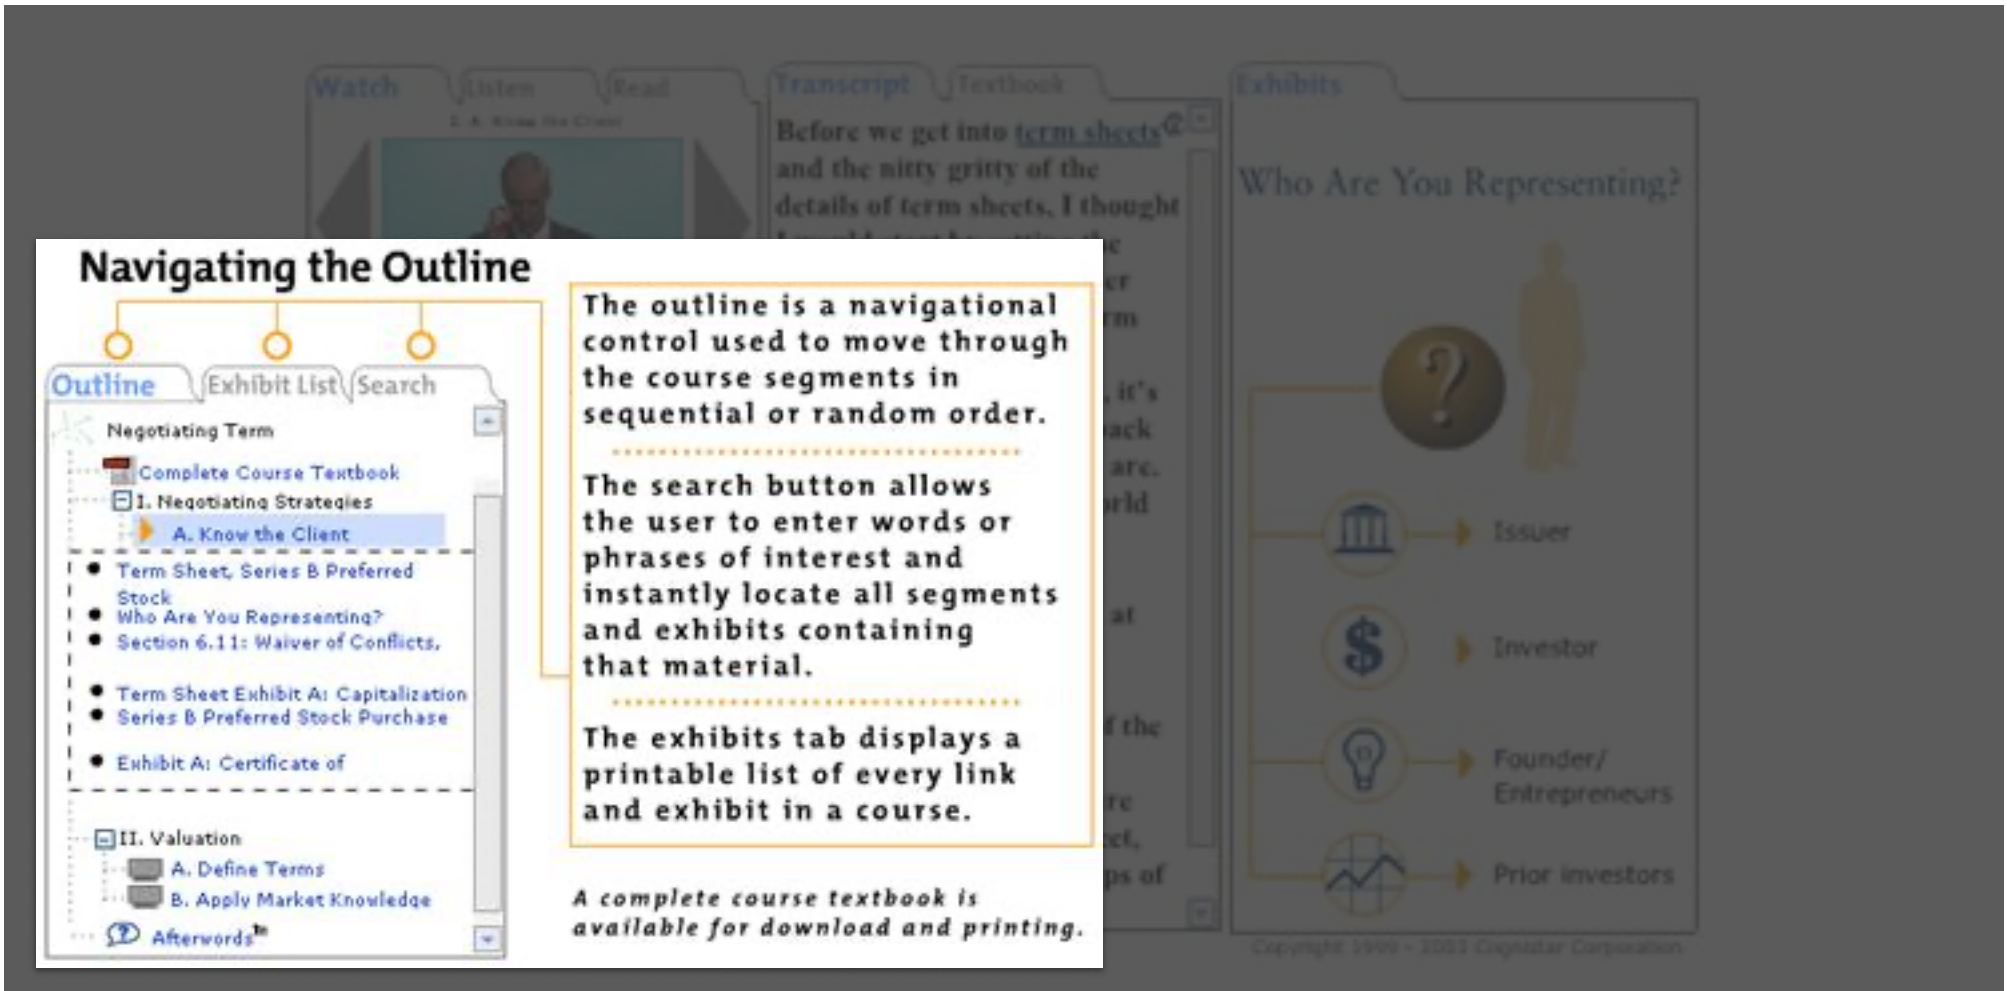

The large arrows take the user to the next or previous course segment.

The small controls allow rapid navigation within the segment.

The screenshot displays a video player titled "I. A. Know the Client" with "Watch", "Listen", and "Read" options. Below the player are navigation arrows and a progress bar. To the right, a menu titled "Who Are You Representing?" lists "Issuer", "Investor", "Founder/Entrepreneurs", and "Prior investors" with corresponding icons. The background shows a blurred document with text about "representing?" in a venture capital financing term sheet.

CLOSEUP

He rides skateboard to career

Pete Bartsch wasn't around when the old wooden skateboards first really hit the streets, back in the turbulent 1960s. He was just a little tyke when boards had a mini-resurgence in the ho-hum '70s. The 17-year-old Bartsch timed it just right, for in 1987 the time is quite obviously right for skateboarding.

Bartsch — something of an expert on one of the country's hottest trends — manages the thriving F.A. Skates, a division of Jim Wright Tennis-Soccer U.S.A., 1335 E. Davis, Arlington Heights.

"I'm having fun," Bartsch said, "and also getting the opportunity to learn a lot about the business aspects of running a shop — because of my skateboarding ability."

The Prospect High School graduate may well be correct when he says that the current popularity of boards isn't a here-today-gone-tomorrow proposition. "It's grown again because of better equipment — it might become more of a sport, like BMX (bicycle) freestyling," said Bartsch.

His shop carries quality products from several companies — Powell, Santa Cruz. There are cheaper ones on the market, but they're just toys, made by companies that build skateboards one month, and something else the next.

Similarly, he scoffed at the idea of "poseur" skateboarders — "Skate to have fun, because you like it — not because you think it'll make you look cool."

Bartsch, though, is typical of a growing number of serious Northwest suburban skateboarders — the ones who have skinned their knees and elbows practicing on the street ramps, in the schoolyards and on the half-pipes — who dream of getting paid to travel the country competing in National Skate Association events. And who know a good board can be had in the $110 to $180 range.

"I'll skate as long as it's fun and physically possible," said skateboard buyer/seller/ assembler/rider/philosopher Bartsch, who isn't even from California — except perhaps in spirit.
